Diversity and Equality

The Central Coast School of Wine is an advocate of individual personal expression in all of its forms. We believe that everyone, regardless of race, gender, religious belief, relationship orientation, socio-economic background, or education level, among other factors, has the right to participate equally and without judgement in social, economic, and personal enrichment opportunities. We expect that all participants/candidates enrolled in a Central Coast School of Wine seminar or course will treat all other program participants/candidates and Central Coast School of Wine staff in a respectful manner. We will take every appropriate step to ensure all students/candidates of Central Coast School of Wine are treated fairly, equally, and without bias in all aspects of our business and course/seminar programming activities.
